Order of Merit

Order of Jamaica

Head of State of Jamaica

The Queen

The full Royal Style and Title of the Queen is: ‘Elizabeth the Second, by the Grace of God of Jamaica and of Her other Realms and Territories Queen, Head of the Commonwealth’.

In formal announcements, The Queen should not be referred to as ‘she’ or ‘her’. After the initial mention the Queen should be addressed as: ‘Her Majesty The Queen’ or ‘The Queen’ or ‘Her Majesty’.

The Governor- General

The Governor-General is The Queen’s representative and performs most of the functions of Head of State.

The Mode of Address in Writing/Formal Settings:

Verbal Address/Subsequent Referrals

'Your Excellency'

Semi-formal Address:

'Governor-General'

'Sir Patrick' (senior colleagues and personal friends)

Introduction:

Your Excellency, may I present

The initials H.E. (The abbreviation for His Excellency), are not for formal usage, but may be used in informal and third person usage.

The wife of the Governor-General is formally styled: 'Her Excellency the Most Honourable Lady Allen'

She may be addressed formally as 'Your Excellency' and informally as 'Lady Allen'.

The first name should never be used.

Place Card:

The Governor-General

The Most Honourable Lady Allen

Note

Normally place cards are not used for the Governor-General nor the Prime Minister as, at this level, their seats would have been designated and carefully noted by those doing the seating.

The formal joint description of Their Excellencies is:

‘Their Excellencies The Governor-General and the Most Honourable Lady Allen’ or ‘Their Excellencies, the Most Honourable Sir Patrick Allen, ON, GCMG, CD, KSt.J and the Most Honourable Lady Allen’

At official functions where the Governor-General is present, the National Anthem should be played on his arrival. All persons present should stand silently with heels together and preferably with hands at sides

Invitation Card:

Placing the title before the name of the host is correct when addressing an invitation card,
eg. Their Excellencies The Governor-General and the Most Honourable Lady Allen request the pleasure of the company of

.....

The Head of Government

The Prime Minister

In many Commonwealth countries, the Prime Minister is formally styled 'The Honourable'. If he/she becomes a member of the Privy Council of the United Kingdom (an office held for life), then he/she is styled 'The Right Honourable'.

If the Prime Minister of Jamaica is a member of the Privy Council he/she is formally styled: 'the Right Honourable, PC, MP'. Although it has become a tradition in Jamaica to use the postnominal letters 'PC', the British and other Commonwealth Countries generally do not use these letters, as it is considered implicit in the title 'Right Honourable'. It is therefore optional. However, if a Prime Minister becomes a member of the Order of the Nation, he/she is styled the Most Honourable and if he/she becomes a member of the British Privy Council, the letters PC must be placed after the name as the prefix 'Most Honourable' subsumes the prefix 'Right Honourable' eg. The Most Honourable P.J. Patterson, ON, OCC*, PC, QC.

* Mr Patterson was also awarded the Order of Caribbean Community, CARICOM's highest honour

At formal official functions if the Governor-General is not present and where the Prime Minister is present, the National Anthem should be played to announce the arrival of the Prime Minister. All persons present should stand silently with heels together and preferably with hands at sides

Deputy Speaker of the House
c/o Houses of Parliament

Opening Salutation:

‘Dear Madam (formal)

‘Dear Deputy Speaker (semi-formal)

.....

Yours faithfully (formal)
Yours sincerely (semi-formal)
Signature’

Members of the House of Representatives

Members of Parliament are usually referred to as ‘Mr/Ms/Mrs....., MP’ during their period in Office. If they are recipients of any state honours, the relevant post-nominal letters should be included before MP, for example, if a Member of Parliament is a member of the Order of Distinction in the rank of Commander he/she would be styled: Mr Fitz Jackson, CD, MP. If a Member of Parliament is the recipient of more than one state Order, the highest Order is placed first behind the surname, junior orders follow in succession.

Also, if a Member of Parliament is a Cabinet Minister, he is styled the Honourable. Eg. Honourable Audley Shaw, CD, MP

The formal manner of address in:

Writing:

Hon/Mr/Mrs/Miss First Name, Last Name, MP
Member of Parliament for

A Judge of the Court of Appeal/High Court

A Judge of the Court of Appeal/High Court is formally styled, ‘The Honourable Mr/Mrs/Miss Justice’ on first reference, and ‘Mr/Mrs/Miss Justice’ subsequently. In court he/she may be referred to as ‘My Lord/My Lady’ or ‘Your Lordship/Ladyship’.

Note that the first name of a judge should be used only where there are two or more judges with the same surname, in which case the first name of the junior one(s) is used as well as the surname at all times.

A Puisne (pronounced pu’ni-with a long ‘u’) Judge is merely a term used to describe a member of the High Court other than the Chief Justice.

The Master rules on civil cases in Chambers, and is styled ‘The Master’ (whether male/female).

A Judge of the Parish Court is styled ‘His/Her Honour Mr/Mrs/Miss, Parish Judge. In court he/she is referred to as ‘Your Honour’. Outside court circles the latter referral would only be used in the salutation of a formal letter or in formal introduction as a speaker.

A Justice of the Peace (JP) is styled ‘Your Worship’ on the bench, otherwise he/she is addressed by name in the usual manner.

When a judge of the Court of Appeal/High Court retires from service, he/she retains his/her judicial style, and this is written, ‘the Honourable Mr/Mrs/Miss Justice Black (ret’d)’.

If an Attorney-at-Law, who is a Member of the Queen’s Counsel (QC), becomes a judge of the High Court or the Court of Appeal, he/she drops the ‘QC’ after their name. Use of these post-nominals may be resumed upon retirement.
